

PRMS SUMMARY OF STATE LICENSURE WAIVER INFORMATION

PLEASE READ:

For the sake of clarity, we have modified this list to reflect only the status of temporary licensure waivers that had been adopted by individual states during the COVID-19 pandemic. Those states whose waivers have expired may have other statutory provisions allowing for the practice of telemedicine by out-of-state physicians. PRMS clients may contact their risk managers to determine whether such provisions exist in states where they are seeing patients. Please note that this information is changing on a daily basis and thus this document should be used as a starting point only. We have noted that in several instances, states have declared an end to their state of emergency in advance of their originally published timeframe.

CONNECTICUT (reviewed 10/7/2021)

Governor Lamont recently signed into law House Bill 5596 which is intended to allow for an increase in access to telehealth during the COVID-19 crisis. While several sources have reported that the law allows physicians and other providers from states outside of Connecticut to treat residents via telehealth without the need for a Connecticut license until June 30, 2023, in fact the new law only allows the Commissioner of Public Health to allow such a waiver if needed. This has not occurred. There is currently no provision which would allow an out-of-state provider to practice telemedicine in Connecticut without a Connecticut license.

IDAHO (last update 10/8/2021)

COVID-Related Physician Licensure Exemption - Idaho Code 54-1804(1)(d) sets forth a licensure exemption for physicians during a time of disaster. The Governor's August 17, 2021 Proclamation declared a state of disaster emergency in Idaho. During this time of disaster, physicians who are licensed to practice in another state or country and in good standing can practice medicine via telehealth or in person in Idaho pursuant to Idaho Code 54-1804(1)(d).

Please note, this ability to practice in Idaho is limited to the duration of the state of disaster emergency. Once the state of disaster emergency is lifted, physicians who are not licensed in Idaho must cease practicing. To ensure continuity of patient care, please pursue licensure in Idaho or prepare a plan to transition patient care once the disaster emergency is lifted.

WYOMING (reviewed 10/8/2021)

Telemedicine: If you have an existing physician-patient relationship established in a face-to-face encounter in your state, and the patient is not able to travel to your state now due to the Public Health Emergency, you may continue that patient's care via telehealth, including telephone, without a Wyoming physician license. This includes following up on procedures performed in your home state, adjusting medication dosing, prescription refills, ordering diagnostic testing, etc. The telehealth technology must allow you to meet the standard of care at all times. You may not, however, provide care that treats a new diagnosis or condition without a Wyoming physician license if you have not seen the patient for it in a face-to-face encounter in your home state. You also may not provide care beyond such a time as the standard of care dictates that a face-to-face encounter should occur.
